

Dear Travel Partners,

During this challenging time, we are ever grateful for your constant support and loyalty. Nothing fuels our team more than having partners who are passionate about collaborating to curate the best experiences for clients.

After many decades in the hospitality industry, we can proudly say we're experts at crafting the perfect experiences for our guests, so we've encapsulated the essence of our resorts, those moments that make guests keep coming for more, for our partners and clients to enjoy at home during these trying times. In doing so, we want to encourage you to fill your days with our essence while we prepare to host you and your clients again soon.

Together with our team of experts across departments including entertainment, food and beverage, housekeeping and more, we've gathered the best experiences at our resorts for you to recreate at home.

Sincerely,
Enrique Calderón,
Chief Operating Officer.
